

Tanya McGinnity

Leadership Coach, Group Facilitator, Coach Supervisor

Tanya McGinnity works as a coach and facilitator. She has worked in the corporate sector, with leaders and with many individuals and groups over the past 24 years. Tanya's trademark is her energy and ability to engage clients and get them to focus on their vision and what really matters. Her diverse global and cultural experience includes 7 years in India, a year in California and various studies in Ireland, Canada and Spain.

A former Accenture Global Trainer, she is now on the coaching panel for Accenture Ireland. Her current clients include Airbus, Salesforce, Accenture, Wallapop, Splunk, Alteryx and King across Europe. Tanya taught workshops at the Esalen Institute for 5 years. Currently based in Palma de Mallorca, of Irish origin, a trained life coach, movement instructor and mentor, and CEO (Chief Energy Officer) of TMC Global.

She works with leaders and their direct teams when they are ready to change their approach, shake things up and engage in a process that requires them to look even more clearly at what matters to them and how they can play to their strengths to enhance performance and impact at work. Her mission is to inspire and empower people to jump outside their comfort zone to bring their best selves to life!
